

African Civet

By Frederic P. Miller

Alphascript Publishing. Taschenbuch. Book Condition: Neu. Neuware - The African Civet is a common viverrid native to tropical Africa. Unlike many other members of the family, which resemble cats, the African Civet resembles a short dog-like animal. Its coarse coat varies but is usually an ornate pattern of black and white contrasting bands and blotches, with a white face mask and black eye patches and a pale muzzle. Like all civets it has perianal glands that produce a fluid known as civetone, which it spreads on markers in its territory to claim its range. 312 pp. Englisch.

READ ONLINE
[5.87 MB]

Reviews

A top quality publication along with the font used was intriguing to read. I really could comprehend everything using this written e ebook. Its been designed in an remarkably straightforward way and it is only after i finished reading through this publication by which basically altered me, modify the way i believe.

-- Cathrine Larkin Sr.

Very useful to all of group of people. I actually have read through and so i am certain that i will planning to study yet again once again down the road. I am just very easily can get a satisfaction of looking at a created book.

-- Mark Bernier