The defendant hired the entire vessel; he might use her as he pleased. He might fill her up or not. Still he must be liable for the full freight. The contract is not to pay so much for every thousand feet of mahogany to be laden en board. Two hundred and twenty-five dollars were to be paid down, and the residue in Ktw-York. This shows clearly that the parties must have had in view a full freight. Abbot (part 3. ch. 7. s. 2.) says, if a certain sum be stipulated for every ton, or other portion of the ship s capacity, for the whole voyage, the payment must be according to the number of tons, c. which the ship is proved capable of containing, without regard to the quantity actually put on board by the merchant; and he...
