Excerpt: .of pure oil in the face of anyone who molests them. I have seen And of what use are these strange birds? I know not, Edward; I do not, as I have often told you, undertake to answer all the questions, or half of them, which anyone could readily address to me. Yet I recollect there is one point of view in which they are serviceable; the people of the Feroe Islands make candles of them. Make candles of them, sir! Yes; they draw a wick through the bird and light it; and, as the petrel is full of fat and oil, it burns for a long time. I should never have thought of such a use as this. I dare say you would not. The Auk Tribe is placed under this order. It is a bird of passage, FULMAR PETREL. visiting our coast about the beginning of April, and departing about the middle of August. They lay one egg in a hole in the earth, or in the fissures of the rocks. The bill is thick, convex, and marked with urrows. The bill of the one we saw stuffed, you know, sir, was half red, and the legs were of an orange colour. Its beak was very singular, and rather more than an inch long. It was the Puffin Auk. This bird does not breed till it is three years old. It feeds on sprats and sea-weeds. The Man-of-war Bird, or the Albatross,...
