He aims to illustrate and describe every important contemporary design, whether of American or European origin. The book deals with the underlying principles involved, and the general features of the mechanisms described; it does not concern itself particularly with those details of construction which are common to all machine tools, of whatever type. The discussion is closely confined, also, to present day machines and methods, references to earlier practice being made only in cases where that practice conceals the germ of possible future development. The arrangement of the subject matter follows the classification set forth in the opening chapter. That is to say, the machines are described in the order determined - first, by the form of gear each is designed to cut: next, by the...
