Forgotten Books, United States, 2015. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 229 x 152 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from The Dream of the Months: A New Year Pageant This little Pageant is suitable for Sunday or Day School, as it brings in a great many children with not too much training. If the platform is large enough, the characters may all stay on in allotted places, although to be exact each should retire before the other comes forward. Many other characters may be introduced or many dropped out without particularly changing the character of the Pageant. At the close the curtain could drop for a few seconds to allow the Christmas Tree and December characters to retire, and rise disclosing only the two children, who could then awaken from the dream. This is a more correct ending, but the Pageant of all the Months together on the platform of course also has its advantages. The dresses are simple, a great many of cheesecloth. The Rainbow shades are best accomplished by simple dyes and white cotton stockings are dipped at the same time, also a yard and a half of same stuff for scarves. The stockings are all drawn on over slippers in almost all the characters. A green carpet is best for the floor and a dark green background. The Usher is used to make plain the different Months, as it adds immensely to the interest. A number of dresses may be made of tissue paper, i.e., Poppy and Cornflower, Holly and Mistletoe, also October s.
